during the course of these historic gatherings, the world’s major powers, including England, Germany, the United States and others discussed how to limit the use, production and trade of opium.

but facts are facts and this is how America works of individual racists in power, but rather is more about structural problems such as concentrated poverty,